Professor was good, frequently checked in.
The assignments forced me to apply the concepts discussed, allowing me to gain a deeper understanding of topics.
Dr. Centuriao is extremely communicative and helpful. His grading feedback is explanative and fair. The attention to detail he provides shows he really cares about his students and quality of teaching even though this is a virtual course. Dr. Centuriao is a great addition to the ECON Masters program.
I think the most important part was the discussion boards. They really made me think about how it applies to every day economics in the region where I live. Most definitely keep that as part of future courses. The final two assignments were helpful in demonstrating a practical application of the material. The reading was very dense, which is a good thing for the graduate level courses, and the quizzes make sure that I had to read all of the material and understand it. I most definitely learned a lot. I'm not clear on the journals...seems to me that those could be rolled into the discussion board somehow, but this is relatively minor. However, overall, great course.
Professor Centuriao was incredibly timely with responses and grading with very in depth and constructive assignment feedback.
